

Kia Huggan is an entrepreneur working on developing Webquity a digital accessibility software start-up through her Master of Engineering in Global Entrepreneurship program at UConn. She studied Computer Science and Engineering at UConn. Kia is passionate about tech, outreach, and education.